I. There are three evaluation criteria for promotion evaluation—academic research, teaching performances, and services. The maximum total scores for each criterion are:

- i. Applying for promotion by specialized academic publications or technical reports: 70 points for academic research, 20 points for teaching performances, and 10 points for services.
- ii. Applying for promotion by written works on teaching research: 60 points for teaching research, 30 points for teaching performances, and 10 points for services.

II. Applying for promotion by specialized academic publications:

- i. Assistant professors applying for promotions to associate professors or associate professors applying for promotions to professors in the College of Marine Sciences (hereafter referred to as “the College”), during the time in their original positions, shall have each published five papers or more on SCI, EI, or SSCI journals as the corresponding authors or lead authors.

Faculty in the College with expertise in humanities, law and politics, socio-economics, management, etc., during the time in their original positions, shall have each published one paper or more on the SSCI journal as the corresponding authors or lead authors.

- ii. All papers published during the time in the original position may be included in the article counts, but only papers in the name of NSYSU published in recent three years may be representative work.

III. Applying for promotion by technical reports:

- i. Assistant professors applying for promotions to associate professors or associate professors applying for promotions to professors in the College, during the time in their original positions, shall have received NSYSU Outstanding Teacher Award (in Industry-Academic) or NSYSU Industry-Academia Excellence Award, or “A2. Achievement awards and other related achievements of this level within seven years” with a total score of 24 points or more, and is scored by the group of three Colleges (Science, Engineering and Marine Sciences) of “Faculty (Assistant Professor and above) Promotion Scoring Table (for final review)-Technology Application”.

Faculty in the College with expertise in humanities, law and politics, socio-economics, management, etc., could be scored by the group of four Colleges (Liberal Arts, Management, Social Sciences and Si-Wan).

- ii. All papers and reports published during the time in the original position may be included in the article counts, but only technical reports be recognized by the Office of Global Industry-Academe Collaboration and Advancement and in the name of NSYSU published in recent three years may be representative work.

IV. Applying for promotion by written works on teaching research:

- i. Assistant professors applying for promotions to associate professors or associate professors applying for promotions to professors in the College, shall meet the following conditions during the time in their original positions:

1. Shall have received NSYSU Outstanding Teacher Award (in Teaching), or NSYSU Teaching Excellence Award, or be recommended by the College to select NSYSU Teaching Excellence Award for two times or more.
2. Shall have conducted MOE Teaching Practice Research Program for one piece or more.
3. Shall have published four papers or more on SCI, EI, or SSCI journals as the corresponding authors or lead authors in recent five years, or have published three papers and have hosted MOST research projects for two pieces or more.

Faculty in the College with expertise in humanities, law and politics, socio-economics, management, etc., shall have published one paper or more on the SSCI journals (except for those are also SCI journals) as the corresponding authors or lead authors in recent five years.

- ii. All papers published during the time in the original position may be included in the article counts, but only written works on teaching research as the lead authors or corresponding authors and in the name of NSYSU published in recent three years may be representative work.

- V. A maximum of ten specialized publications, proofs of merits, technical reports, or written works on teaching research can be submitted. The applicant shall select one representative work and the rest as reference works. Related works constituting a series may be compiled into one representative work.
- VI. The determinations of the scores for each evaluation criteria of assistant professors or associate professors applying for promotions, shall be processed in accordance with the “College of Marine Sciences Regulations of Faculty Promotion Evaluation (for faculty ranked above Assistant Professors).”
- VII. The determinations of the scores for each evaluation criteria of teaching assistants applying for promotions to lectures or lecturers applying for promotion, shall be processed in accordance with the “Regulations for Promotion Evaluation of Faculty and Researchers at National Sun Yat-sen University.”
- VIII. For reviews of the promotion applications of faculties in the College with expertise in humanities, law and politics, socio-economics, management, etc., in references to faculty promotion evaluation regulations of relevant colleges of NSYSU, professors of relevant colleges in or outside NSYSU may be invited to attend the evaluation meeting.
- IX. The standards shall be implemented following approvals of the College and University Faculty Evaluation Committee meetings and the authorization of the president. The same procedure shall be carried out when amendments are to be made.

(The standards in English are translated from the original Chinese. In the event of any discrepancies between the two versions, the Chinese version prevails.)
